

*Think Globally,
Eat Locally.
Start Now.*

Getting Started with Edibles in Your Landscape: Plant Selection An Evening with Ecological Designer Darren Butler

Friday, March 13, 2009 6:30pm
Universalist Unitarian Church, Mission Inn Avenue and Lemon St., Riverside

FLOWERS

HERBS

VEGETABLES

TREES

You know edible landscaping is the smart choice, but it seems overwhelming.
What plant to put where? And when to put it there?

Food and energy prices are rising steadily, and humanity is straining our resources and systems. Landscaping with edibles is more important than ever for personal, community, and global sustainability.

Ecological Landscape Designer Darren Butler's methods for edible landscaping differ from other popular methods in that they focus on edibles as one part of a broader sustainable landscape, and create living systems to naturally increase yields and minimize maintenance.

In this evening seminar, Darren will discuss plant selection and placement for Inland residents, using annuals in the edible landscape, innovative approaches to maximizing food production in perennial plantings, and sources of materials, seeds, and plants. He will share immediately usable ideas for urban living spaces and new ways of looking at the potentials of landscapes and the natural systems at work in residential yards.

Suitable for professionals, homeowners, community activists, volunteers, chefs, kitchen gardeners, and foodies.

About DARREN BUTLER:

A dynamic, inspiring teacher and speaker with over two decades' experience, Darren is a consulting arborist, ecological designer and landscape specialist. He has appeared in national and international media including television and NPR radio, and is a frequent speaker and teacher throughout California. He currently serves on the Statewide Steering Committee for all UC Master Gardener Programs. For more information about Darren Butler and his workshops, see <http://www.EcoWorkshops.com>

Join us at 6:30 – 9:15 pm. Friday, March 13
Universalist Unitarian Church of Riverside
3657 Lemon Street, Riverside, CA 92501
$10 per person

Co-sponsored by the Green Sanctuary Committee, UUCR

For more information:
contact Marge Yeager
951-328-0879

mbyeager@gmail.com or www.EcoWorkshops.com

Advance registration requested.

To sign up using PayPal,
contact Marge (above).
To sign up by mail, make payment of $10 to:

Darren Butler
PO Box 589
Topanga CA
90290 -0589